

Nature Based Volunteering Opportunities – 2023

Hannah Bull writes: There are many local opportunities to help protect nature right here in the Warwickshire and West Midlands areas.

The Wildlife Trusts: There are sites very near Knowle where the Wildlife Trusts are active in improving and protecting habitats for plants and wildlife. For information look here.

Woodland Trust: The Trust owns and manages many areas of land not far from here and relies heavily on small groups of volunteers. Volunteer With Us – Woodland Trust

Solihull Conservation Volunteers: This is a small local independent voluntary group carrying out practical conservation work in and around our area. Anybody over the age of 16 is welcome. Check out the options at Join Us – Solihull Conservation Volunteers \(solihullcv.org.uk\)

Canal and River Trust: They are very active around this area and work to clean up and protect canal banks, hedges and wildlife areas for water birds and small mammals. Look at Opportunities | Canal & River Trust \(canalrivertrust.org.uk\)

The National Trust: There are many opportunities at some of our wonderful National Trust properties locally and these include wildlife conservation projects on the bigger estates and work in the gardens on a regular or occasional basis. Check it out here.
